"Fingerboarding is an art that I share and love with anybody and everybody around me! To me it's this super fulfilling and technical expression of oneself; But, like skateboarding, it encompasses a whole spectrum of creativity, technical prowess, and an absolute absurd amount of fun."

"I also want to shout out Fenix, Bossman, and Steve for providing a comfortable place where adults as well as kids can hone their skills and make some meaningful friendships!"

John Reeves always pulls up for our Wednesday Session and shows the newer riders some great techniques. He lands some sick tricks and humbly moves on. He's a positive dude with a good attitude and we're glad to have him as part of our FENIX FB TX Community!

PARK O.T.M.

Guilherme Silva Aguiar, based in São Paulo, Brazil, leads a quiet lifestyle as a woodworker with a deep passion for bodybuilding.

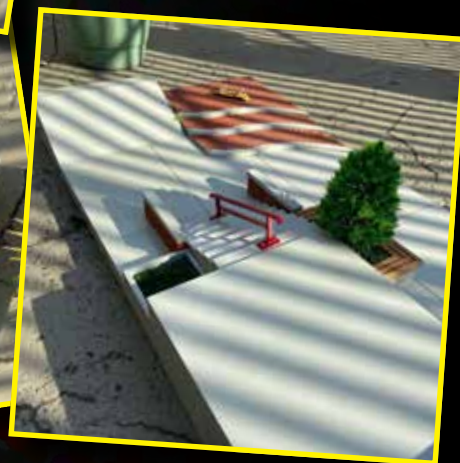

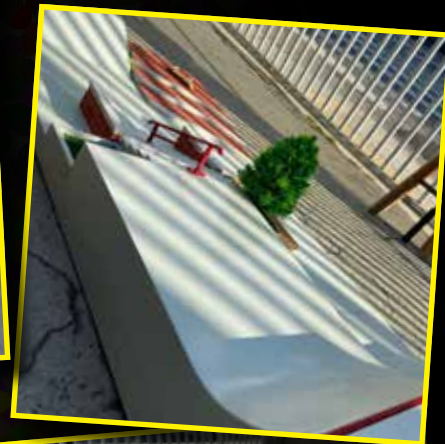

His journey in the fingerboard scene began after leaving a job at a mall when his father, a carpenter, invited him to join the family trade. Inspired by his father's suggestion, he started crafting obstacles and fingerboard parks, quickly discovering a passion for the craft.

In just a year since founding Ollie Ramps, he has already produced six fingerboard parks, with the standout being the "Central Plaza Park." He is currently working on new designs for upcoming events.

—HOODED MOON GRIP TAPE—
a must-have for any fingerboarder!

Soft, Grippy & Cushioned

Introducing our 1mm-thick fingerboard grip tape, designed for ultimate comfort and control!

Inspired by the gravity of the moon (1/6 of Earth's gravity), this grip tape provides exceptional cushioning with a soft and bouncy feel. The high-friction sponge material enhances grip, making tricks easier by giving your deck a light, floating effect.

Using the right deck tape is crucial for improving your tricks. Our unique crater-like texture, resembling the moon's surface, is packed with air pockets to absorb impact and reduce strain on your fingers!

6SKATES

A Family-Run Space for the Community

6SKATES is more than just a Fingerboard shop—it is a family-run hub for the fingerboarding community, owned and operated by Vito and his son Dom. Based in Toronto, Canada, the shop is built on a love for fingerboarding and the desire to create a space where fingerboarders can gather, session, and grow together. What started as a passion has turned into a movement, strengthening the local scene and providing a home for fingerboarders of all levels.

From Hobby to Business: The Birth of 6Skates

Founded in 2017, 6Skates originally started out making full-size cruiser decks before rediscovering the world of fingerboarding. The transition was a natural one, blending the craftsmanship and dedication that went into skateboard decks with the intricate details of fingerboarding.

The fingerboarding community in Toronto lacked a dedicated space where fingerboarders could come together and build a scene that rivaled those in Europe and the U.S. Recognizing the gap, the physical 6Skates shop was launched as a one-stop shop for fingerboard products, events, and community gatherings.

Starting small, 6Skates quickly became the heart of the local fingerboarding scene. Whether through hosting meetups, sponsoring contests, or carrying hard-to-find brands, the shop has built a loyal following of fingerboarders who see it as more than just a store.

The Evolution of 6Skates - From its humble beginnings to becoming a cornerstone of the Toronto fingerboarding scene, 6Skates has continually grown. The shop carries an impressive selection of decks, trucks, wheels, ramps, and obstacles from the best brands worldwide. It is also a gathering space, featuring two Blackriver parks that are always open for sessions at no charge.

6Skates does not just sell products—it strives to build the scene. Hosting events like Boards by the Beach, collaborating with brands on exclusive releases, and creating a welcoming space for fingerboarders has helped solidify the shop as a key player in the community. But more than anything, 6Skates is about bringing people together. The shop is fueled by the energy of its visitors, the friendships formed over sessions, and the shared passion for fingerboarding.

As part of its commitment to growing the scene, 6Skates has also brought featured guests to Toronto events, including current Fast Fingers champion Ramon Angelo and well-known fingerboard influencers FB Christopher and JakePFB. These visits have helped elevate the local scene, giving Toronto fingerboarders direct access to some of the biggest names in the community. In addition, 6Skates hosted the Blackriver team in the shop last year, further cementing its reputation as a must-visit spot for international fingerboarders.

The Love for Travel & Events – 6Skates is not just about the local scene—it is dedicated to traveling to events and connecting with the global fingerboarding community. From Germany to California, the shop has made it a priority to attend events, support other shops, and bring back fresh ideas to keep the local scene thriving. Meeting new fingerboarders, seeing different styles, and being part of the bigger picture is what continues to inspire the growth of 6Skates.

Memorable Moments & Future Plans – One of the most unforgettable moments for 6Skates was hosting Boards by the Beach, an annual event that draws fingerboarders from across the region. Seeing the community come together, push their limits, and celebrate fingerboarding in a high-energy setting is what makes the work behind 6Skates worthwhile.

Looking forward, 6Skates has big plans—more events, expanded product lines, and collaborations with brands and fingerboarders. With the upcoming FingerboardCon 3, 6Skates is excited to partner with Blackriver and Slushcult to create an even bigger and better event. These partnerships bring new opportunities to the community and help push the scene forward.

SXL: Elevating FINGERBOARDING in PUERTO RICO!

Deep in the streets of Ponce, where the heat rises off the pavement and skate culture runs deep, Francisco Quiñones Medina is building something special. He's not just another fingerboarder—he's a creator, a fabricator, and the mind behind SXL, a brand bringing handcrafted obstacles, ramps, and rails to the island's underground fingerboarding scene.

Francisco has been fingerboarding for 24 years, but two years ago, he found his crew—the Titer Crew—a tight-knit family pushing the scene forward. Together, they've been hitting up events across Puerto Rico, putting fingerboarding on the map with raw, DIY energy. Cultura Sobre Ruedas was a major moment—an event that fused fingerboarding with art and music, proving that this isn't just a hobby; it's a movement.

The journey into park-building started in the early 2000s with nothing but cardboard and tape. But in 2022, Francisco and his friend Jboy took things to the next level, mixing 3D printing, woodworking, and design to create obstacles that blur the line between miniature and reality. Now, SXL is known for detailed, realistic spots that carry the soul of Puerto Rico's skate culture.

One of his proudest builds? Titer Academy—a three-level fingerboard park inspired by a real school, complete with handrails, grass gaps, and authentic street art. This project wasn't just about obstacles—it was a community effort, pulling in local artists and welders to craft a space that felt alive.

What's next? Events like Titereteo 2.0, cement pieces, and replicas of legendary Puerto Rican skate spots—plus a top-secret project still under wraps. Whatever comes next, Francisco and SXL are keeping it real, keeping it raw, and keeping Puerto Rico's fingerboarding scene grinding forward.

Austin Dodge: Cover Skater Making Moves in Barrie, Ontario

Hailing from the vibrant city of Barrie, Ontario, Austin Dodge is a local skater and sponsored fingerboarder who has carved out his place in the scene with style and precision. Known for his dedication to the craft, Austin's journey began in the winter of 2018 with nothing more than an old Tech Deck and a bit of curiosity. Little did he know, that moment would spark a deep passion that would take him to the top of competitions and earn him sponsorship recognition.

Barrie, Ontario, located north of Toronto along the shores of Lake Simcoe, is known for its strong skateboarding community and local hubs that foster talent in both full-sized and fingerboard skateboarding. The city's growing fingerboard scene has given Austin the perfect platform to showcase his skills and push the limits of what's possible on a tiny deck.

As he progressed, Austin started crafting creative setups at home using books, binders, and tools as obstacles. It wasn't long before he upgraded to his first pro fingerboard—a 34mm Berlinwood deck with black BRTs and Oak Wheels—and began catching the attention of the community through social media. His talent and consistency led to a sponsorship with KOYO Fingerboards, a respected local deck company.

Austin's most memorable moment came on January 4, 2025, at the Missing Wax event at Freaky Wizard Café. Competing in a "best trick" contest on a WestondaleCustoms 5-stair tabletop, he confidently called out a switch flip backside noseblunt on the hubba—then landed it first try with absolute perfection. That legendary trick secured him 1st place, along with the coveted tabletop and some well-earned prizes.

With undeniable talent and a growing reputation, Austin Dodge is proving that Barrie is home to some serious fingerboard talent. Keep an eye on this cover skater—his journey is just getting started! — axtn.fb

A WORD FROM THE CHAMPS

Fatty's is a Michigan-based cannabis company. You can find their full line of products at dispensaries across the state. As the brand began to take shape, they combined their passion of cannabis with their love of fingerboarding—and started posting videos online featuring the two. For Fatty's, marrying them felt natural—and it quickly caught the attention of both the cannabis and FB communities. Last April, Fatty's put together a team to compete in our first ever King of the Plies challenge. Their submission took home the dub. This is their story.

The Team

Alan Dreyer—Videographer/Editor @alan_dreyer
Kevin "Vinci" Woods—Team Rider @davincicaso
Duncan Hodgins—Team Rider @donutfingerfb
Jesse "Jesse" Storey—Team Rider @shes2loudfb
Worden "Wordy" Cuyler—Team Rider @cerealcity_fb

Describe a few challenge locations?

Old Detroit Fire Training Academy—this abandoned spot was the backdrop for Banish Them, some of our favorite shots in the edit. It's where we lugged a Blackriver Ramp to the top of the building, climbing more than four stories high, and clipped a legendary five-piece line with a board slide & varial flip.

Honest John's—a dive bar in midtown Detroit with one of the most gnarly bathrooms in the city. This was the stage for Public Urination—a kickflip 5-0 off a toilet seat. Not sure if there's a cleaning solution out there that can revive Kevin's Fatty's x Cryptic Zaza board. It may have to be cremated at this point.

What was the most memorable challenge?

Jesse looks back fondly on the Call the Cops challenge—completed at Hash Bash, a yearly cannabis event in Ann Arbor. We spent the day wondering the streets with Fatty's in hand—taking in the chaos that is Hash Bash. Of course an event of this nature requires some police presence. No better time to distract an officer of the law with a cheeky three-piece line on their squad car. The fed even landed an ollie himself—pretty dope. We wanted to get some b-roll of the cop fake arresting Duncan, but he said he could only cuff someone for committing an actual crime. Duncan wasn't in the mood to go to jail, so we packed our things and moved on to the next challenge. For Worden and Alan, their favorite moment was the abandoned building climb for the Banish Them challenge—a five-piece line with a varial flip off a rail, all while being at least four stories high. Everyone took shifts holding Alan by his backpack so the wind wouldn't blow him off the rooftop while filming. Thanks to Banish Them, Worden is no longer afraid of heights. In fact, he just submitted an application for the open window washer position at the Burj Khalifa. One final note, in memorandum, RIP in peace to Kevin's Cosmic Inertia setup—as it was sacrificed to the fb gods that late afternoon/early evening.

What was the most difficult challenge?

For Kevin, the most difficult was trying to find the perfect double-kink rail for the Get Kinky challenge. He scoured Detroit, but couldn't find the right rail. Kevin still loses sleep over double-kink rails. For Worden, it was the Muska flip over a street grate, where the risk of losing a prized setup made every attempt that much more tense.

Which challenge acted as a bonding moment?

The Is It Hot In Here? (tre flip an extra large pizza) challenge ending up being one of the most fun and bonding moments for us. This challenge was actually failed on the first attempt. As Kevin was tre flipping at the pizzeria, his arm slapped a side of ranch. Duncan didn't have enough time to react, which resulted in a total utter ranch facial. That must be how pizza feels as us savage humans douse it with that white dressing. We decided to circle back on the challenge due to the mess at hand. Kevin, if you're reading this, know that Duncan is currently stockpiling ranch in his basement, unrefrigerated—plotting his saucy revenge.

What's next for Fatty's?

A lot of cool things on the horizon. On the FB side, we're going to continue to collab with our friends on limited drops—boards, wheels, obstacles, and more. We have some exciting events in the works as well—though we're not at liberty to elaborate at the moment. On the cannabis side of things, our product-line is constantly evolving—our grow is pumping out flower we're proud to put the Fatty's name on. This is going to lead to single source rosin and furthermore, single source hash-hole donuts. Fatty's Lites, a pre-roll 10 pack released earlier this year and we're really happy with the consumer's reception.

KEEP UP WITH FATTY'S

Nick Diemer, hailing from Williamsport, Pennsylvania, is a guy with a big heart, a passion for fingerboarding, and a knack for making rad videos. He's the kind of person who's always up for a good time, whether he's hanging out with friends and family or throwing down some smooth tricks on a fingerboard.

Nick's fingerboarding journey started when he was just two years old, thanks to his dad introducing him to the tiny yet mighty world of fingerboarding. But it wasn't until 2020 that he decided to take it seriously. Determined to bring his vision to life, he launched Nice Fingerboards after months of testing different shapes and molds. By September 2024, NiceFingerboards.com was officially open for business!

At first, sales trickled in slowly, but soon the buzz picked up, and now Nice Fingerboards can be found all over the U.S., Canada, Switzerland, and Germany. With the help of legend Dave England, a Nice Fingerboard even made its way to the Philippines! Through trades and sponsor events, his boards have also reached Mexico and Puerto Rico.

Nick is proudly sponsored by:

- Unity Ride Shop – Trucks & Grip (Code: Nick10 for 10% OFF @unityrideshop_fb)
- Wysocki Wheels – Wheels (@wysocki_wheels)

Both companies reached out after following his journey and recognizing his talent—proof that passion and dedication pay off!

One of Nick's favorite moments? Attending FingerboardCon and having a kid ask for a picture and an autograph. That's when he knew he was truly making an impact.

A huge thank-you goes to his mom, dad, brother, and sister, as well as his best friends @lil_izey_official and @effbee_tip, who always keep the fun alive. Shoutout to Dave Kennedy (@Slot_car_news) for capturing awesome shots of him in the local newspaper.

A special mention goes to Billy Buck (@ratttbatttcattt), the owner of @rathole.fb, who is fighting cancer and, unfortunately, can't make it to FingerboardCon. Nick sends all his best wishes for a speedy recovery. And lastly, Rest in Peace, Alex (@alexaustinfb) – you are deeply missed.

Rob Gnarly: Riffs, Rails, and Radical Moves

Straight outta Philadelphia, Rob Gnarly holds down the low end in Breathe In, a five-piece metalcore/power metal wrecking crew with roots stretching from New Jersey to New York to Pennsylvania. Born from the raw energy of the North Jersey and NYC music scene, Breathe In isn't just about playing songs—it's about delivering a high-voltage experience that ignites every stage they touch.

But Rob's world isn't just about breakdowns and blast beats. When he's not throwing down with Breathe In, he's deep in the pocket of another passion—fingerboarding. Yeah, the same tiny skateboards that ruled middle school desks are now fueling a full-blown underground movement, and Rob is right in the thick of it.

It all started by chance—a rainy day in Philly, a routine stop at Zembo Temple of Skate and Design, and suddenly, Rob stumbled into a full-on fingerboard contest. The scene was alive, buzzing with the same DIY ethos that fueled punk and hardcore. Skaters weren't just riding; they were building—handmade boards, custom wheels, handcrafted obstacles. It was pure, unfiltered passion, and Rob was all in.

Then came the moment where his two worlds collided. Late 2024, Breathe In was setting up for their Brooklyn debut, opening for Japan's metalcore/visual kei juggernauts, Jiluka. The language barrier loomed large—until Rob's drummer handed him an old Zoo York Tech Deck. One impromptu fingerboard session later, Jiluka's frontman was grinning ear to ear, their entire band locked in, watching, cheering for that elusive kickflip. He didn't land it—but the connection was made. No words needed.

Fast forward to 2025, and Rob's still pushing both passions forward.

Breathe In just dropped Fallujah, the first of several new singles set to hit this year. Meanwhile, he's got another project brewing—an underground, DIY fingerboard street park somewhere in Philly. The location? Undisclosed. The mission? Pure, unfiltered creativity. Stay tuned. Rob Gnarly is just getting started.

USAFBL POWER RANKINGS & REGIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS:

United States Fingerboarding League (USAFBL) is turning up the heat in 2025 with the launch of its first-ever Power Rankings! These rankings are a culmination of results from USAFBL Tour stops (2021-2023) and USAFBL-sanctioned events (2024-2025), establishing the ultimate leaderboard for fingerboarders across the USA and Canada.

HOW IT WORKS - At every USAFBL event, participants earn ranking points just for showing up, but podium finishes are where the real gains happen! The more events you compete in, the higher your chances of climbing the rankings. This system rewards consistency, skill, and the grind to the top!

REGIONAL EVENTS: WHERE LEGENDS ARE MADE This year, the USAFBL is hosting four multi-day regional events in Portland, Atlanta, Detroit, and Philadelphia, representing the West, South, North, and East regions, respectively. The top-ranked fingerboarders from each region will earn invites to these high-stakes competitions.

DIDN'T QUALIFY? DON'T SWEAT IT! If you didn't snag an invite, there's still hope! Each regional event kicks off with a Wild Card Tournament on Friday night, where a handful of spots for Saturday's main event are up for grabs.

CATEGORIES TO DOMINATE: Each regional event will showcase three high-octane competitions:
Best Run Street (Line of the Year)
Best Trick Street (Combo of the Year)
Game of S.K.A.T.E. (Battle of the Plies)
The winners of each category will secure their spot at the Nationals, a three-day showdown featuring the best of the best from coast to coast.

NATIONALS: THE ULTIMATE STAGE
Nationals is set to be an electrifying three-day event, bringing together elite talent from the USA and Canada. Friday, Saturday, and Sunday will be packed with competition, camaraderie, and jaw-dropping tricks. The stakes are sky-high, as this event will not only crown national champions but also determine who will go international.
